Providing support your schools need to implement DPA

Ophea continues its commitment to support Daily Physical Activity (DPA) by providing high quality professional development, training, consultative expertise and classroom supports. These are designed to meet the needs identified by educators across the province and the requirements set out by the Ministry of Education's renewed funding.

Ophea has provided two years of valuable and practical DPA supports to teachers, principals and school board administrators. By continuing to offer the DPA Training and Support Services subscription for the 2008/09 school year, Ophea will help ensure a comprehensive and quality approach to implementing and sustaining DPA, now and in the future.

School Board Base Services:

Professional Development Opportunities:

A professional development opportunity in the form of a workshop or forum will be customized to the needs of subscribing boards. Subscribing boards will have input into the content, audience and timing of this professional development opportunity. Subscribers will also be able to complete other quality training sessions through access to online workshops for administrators and teachers. These include interactive components such as an online Ask the Expert function and visual demonstrations.

Resource Database:

New resources will continue to be added to Ophea's online inventory of over 50 quality DPA resources, including evaluation and assessment tools. The database provides quick and easy access to resources that have been reviewed by Ophea experts to meet quality standards. The Resource Database will be housed on www.ophea.net/dpa.

Access to Provincial Expertise and Support:

Whether it's a quick check in on day-to-day concerns, or a longer in-depth discussion, access to provincial curriculum expertise will be available on a regular basis by phone, email and website.

Individual School Services:

Ophea will again support your schools by making DPA manageable, enjoyable and hassle-free!

Activity Cards

Over the last two years educators and administrators have consistently provided feedback that they need high quality and easy-to-follow DPA activities that require little prep time, and are delivered to them directly. To ensure that your teachers are supported, Ophea will again be developing DPA Activity Cards as ongoing professional development/new ideas to encourage a varied DPA program. Hardcopy cards will be sent in two installments, to each elementary teacher in your school as well as provided electronically every month to DPA contacts to share with their administrators and teachers. By providing the DPA Activity Cards in these two formats, teachers will be sure to receive the cards and utilize them in the manner that best suits their needs.

The 2008/09 DPA Activity Cards will be cross-curricular, with a focus on connecting DPA to numeracy and literacy. These new activities will

"I think everyone in our board should have the opportunity to take an Ophea workshop! Once you attend one, you see how simple it is to organize DPA in your class"

~ DPA Training Participant

Newsletter:

DPA school board contacts will receive regular installments of The Active Link. This informative newsletter may include updates on the subscription, research and information to help support the implementation of DPA, practical information for schools to augment training, expert consultative advice, case studies and Ministry updates.

Ophea.net DPA Subscribers' Section:

Convenient access to the DPA subscribers' section will be made available through www.ophea.net/dpa. This online hub will provide easy access to all staff in your board to the latest updates to the DPA services, direct access to the electronic DPA Activity Cards and Supplementary Resources, the DPA Resource Database and a venue to share information and ask questions.

specifically address challenges around time and priorities, by allowing teachers to successfully meet several curriculum based expectations in the same teaching timeslot. The cards will again be specific to division (primary, junior or intermediate) and will be tested by experts to ensure they meet DPA and the Ontario Safety Guidelines requirements.

Supplementary Resources

A minimum of three Supplementary Resources will be supplied to enhance the use of the DPA Activity Cards. Supplementary Resources may include; a resource with information and ideas on implementing school-wide DPA (i.e.: theme days, group activities), a DVD of DPA activities, and access to online supports such as fitness station cards and black line masters.

Subscription Structure

School boards wishing to subscribe must first purchase the School Board Base Services. Boards then have the flexibility to choose if they'd like to deliver their Individual School Services centrally or individually. Additional Services can also be purchased by boards on behalf of their schools and/or by collecting payment from schools.

"The cards are creative and fun! The students really enjoy the activities and they are easy to implement!"

~ Current Subscribing Administrator

"I have never experienced any better professional development in my years of teaching."

~ 2007 Kids' Health Conference Delegate

Additional Services:

Ophea's Movin' Music CD

Music is an excellent motivator for students when they participate in DPA. Ophea has developed a music CD appropriate for DPA, consisting of 21 tracks. The CD contains songs suitable for Primary, Junior and Intermediate divisions.

2008 Kids' Health Conference

Ophea's annual Kids' Health Conference will present an excellent professional development opportunity for educators. This year the conference will include quality DPA workshops to support educators in encouraging healthy school communities. Subscribing boards will receive a considerable discount on registrations. The conference will take place October 16-18, 2008 at Nottawasaga Inn, Alliston, Ontario. For more information visit www.ophea.net/khc.

Training Workshops

Ophea offers a variety of practical, hands-on workshops, delivered by H&PE experts, which can be designed to meet individual board needs. These workshops are offered at a discount to subscribing boards. For a full list of workshops visit www.ophea.net/hpe.
